The Mittelbaucolloquium-Empirical Social Research is a colloquium that takes place every semester at Goethe University. Here, graduate students and post-docs interested in empirical social research get together to present and discuss their current research in a between-peers setting. Should you have any questions about the Mittelbaucolloquium, the program of presentations or our mailing list, please contact Eleonora Vlach at vlach@soz.uni-frankfurt.de or Tomás Cano at canoLopez@soz.uni-frankfurt.de

Mittelbaucolloquium
Empirical Social Research

Winter Semester 19/20
Wednesday 12:00-14:00 ct
Raum: PEG 2G.121

27 Nov.  Carlos J. Gil: (EUI & WZB): Can Advantaged Families Compensate for Low Ability by Hard Work? The (Unequal) Interplay between Cognitive and Non-cognitive Skills in a Tracked Educational System

04 Dec.  Christian Czymara: Attitudes toward immigrants in the MENA region

11 Dec.  Carlotta Giustozzi: Labour market marginalization and civic participation: individual resources and regional contexts

18 Dec.  Alexander Geinert: Title TBD

15 Jan.  Zsófia Ignácz: Attitudes towards the Welfare State

22 Jan.  Claudia Traini (Uni Bamberg & LifBì): The long-term "causal effect" of track assignment at secondary level in Germany

29 Jan.  Tomás Cano: The Intergenerational Transmission of Life & Work Trajectories

05 Feb.  Rona Geffen: Title TBD

12 Feb.  Lena Scherf: Work, Family & Social Inequality