InFER
Institute for Empirical-Analytical Research

GOETHE UNIVERSITÄT FRANKFURT AM MAIN

InFER Mittelbau Colloquium

Winter Term 2026/2027

Wednesday 12:15-13:15

Room: PEG 1.G 107

4 November	Special Event: Meeting with Stuart J. Turnbull-Dugarte (InFER Speaker) 10:00 AM (Room TBA)
11 November	Felix Schulz Work identity threats, climate backlash and the role of labour market support systems
18 November	Isabelle Schindler Who Reacts? Who stays put? The Effect of Niche, Opposition Parties on Parties and Their Electorate. A European Comparison
2 December	Simon Bienstman Decoupling or consolidation? A re-assessment of the structuration of subjective social status
16 December	Laura-Sophia Koller Relative Income Position and Satisfaction with Democracy: A Panel Analysis
13 January	Taylan Acar Politicization of Gender Ideologies: The associations between political ideology and gender ideologies
27 January	Max P. Jansen: Academic Efficacy and Social Inequality
10 February	End-of-the Semester Get-together

The InFER Mittelbaucolloquium takes place every semester at Goethe University. It provides graduate students and post-docs interested in empirical social research the opportunity to present and discuss their current research with peers. Everyone is welcome to join!
In case of questions, contact Taylan Acar acar@soz.uni-frankfurt.de or Yassine Khoudja khoudja@soz.uni-frankfurt.de