Preface

This volume passed through several stages of debate over several years, and the list of institutions and individuals to whom the editors owe thanks is correspondingly long. First versions of the ideas presented here were discussed in the course of two workshops held in Bologna and Frankfurt am Main sponsored by the German Research Foundation-funded Cluster of Excellence “The Formation of Normative Orders” (EXC 243), and generously supported by the Bologna Center of Johns Hopkins University’s Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies as well as the Max Planck Institute for European Legal History. Both proved to be splendid hosts. During these events, we have profited immensely from the contributions and criticism by Kinji Akashi, Raymond Cohen, Costas Constantinou, Erik Jones, Friederike Kuntz, Jürgen Osterhammel, Theresa Schwager, Ursula Stark Urrestarazu, Heinhard Steiger, Hillard von Thiessen, and Johannes P. Weber. Two anonymous reviewers from Oxford University Press provided important suggestions not just for individual papers, but also regarding the organization of the volume as a whole. Carina Berg, Paul Hahnenkamp, and Julia Wirth carefully edited intermediate and final versions of the manuscript. Julia Wirth also compiled the index. Dominic Byatt encouraged us to proceed with the project from an early stage onwards, and Sarah Parker and Olivia Wells dealt with the problems that arose from having three editors in two locations with admirable patience and good humor. We are also very grateful to Vaishnavi Ananthasubramanyam for a speedy production process, to Dan Harding for sensitive copy-editing, and to Joy Mellor for precise proofreading. Needless to say, the editors are fully responsible for any errors and omissions that remain.
