CLAIMS Closing workshop: The Future of Representation
27-28 September 2019

Organized by: Research Unit Democratic Innovations, Goethe University Frankfurt
Conference site: Goethe-University Frankfurt/Main - Campus Westend - Grüneburgplatz 1, 60629 Frankfurt am Main, I.G.Farben Building: Eisenhower-Hall

This workshop will combine theoretical expertise and novel empirical research from five countries - Brazil, France, Germany, India, and China. It seeks to bring together CLAIMS research teams and world-renown researchers in order to discuss political representation from a constructivist perspective. By combining conceptual (theory-building) and empirical (theory-testing) contributions, we seek to provide a better understanding of the variety of claims on representation emerging around the world in a global perspective.

About CLAIMS:
In the CLAIMS project: (New) Political Representative Claims: A Global View (France, Germany, Brazil, China, India) CLAIMS, we advanced the study of representative democracy after the “constructivist turn” by focusing on claims made by different political actors (political parties, civil society) within different institutional settings (representative, participative and deliberative bodies), contexts and legacies (national, global) across countries and levels of governance as well as their trans-national transfers.
